Enable two-factor authentication to add another layer of protection to your retirement account.

Within the Personal tab on the Go-Retire.com website, using the Account Maintenance module, click on the Security option to implement two-factor authentication for the Go-Retire website. This feature adds an extra layer of security by asking you to enter a unique security code in addition to a password. You can choose to require the security code for all logins or for new devices only.

Two-factor authentication is a feature that adds an extra layer of security by asking you to enter a unique security code in addition to your password. You can choose to enter it every time you log in, or only on new devices you haven't logged in with before. Two factor authentication greatly enhances the security of your account, and it is therefore strongly recommended that you enable it.

Stay vigilant. You can help prevent fraud with these simple steps:

- Hover over and review any links in an email to confirm they are from legitimate sources before clicking on them or dialing any phone number contained in an email or pop-up alert. We will never request any personal information via email or text message.
- When conducting Internet searches, confirm that the addresses and descriptions of the websites you're directed to are legitimate.

- When answering calls, be cautious of disclosing any personal information, and always be certain you're speaking with an appropriate representative of your financial institution. If you're ever in doubt, hang up and call your financial institution directly.
- Ensure your computer systems, online browsers, and mobile devices are updated with the latest versions of data protection software.

As always, if you suspect you've been the victim of any form of identity theft or fraud, you should immediately notify us, as well as your plan sponsor. You should also contact other financial institutions you conduct business with, creditors (including the credit bureaus), and be sure to report the crime to local police.

Your security is our priority.
